State Register.

SPRINGFIELD:

Friday, October 7, 1842.

To the Democratic party throughout the State.

The slight or rather a harsh tone of the papers, heretofore classed as democratic, have been pursuing in this State has excited much surprise. If all the usual influences which operate upon those presses were made known, their conduct would excite less attention.

It is well known that in the composition of the canal board, the convention to revise the existing laws in relation, except where the precedent and strong circumstances dictate, that the executive should be in a unique situation during period Gen. Thornton, ring, and partizan of the Board was Gen. Duncan, who has always democratic) acting consciousness, during the period Gen. Thornton was acting with Gen. Duncan, and constantly whigs and whig rule were always dominant in and about the executive office. From an intimate connection he has been considered a supreme at interest to plan with to ever abide to any above them, the canal engineers. Taking advantage of this state of affairs, the canal officers kept by his hand steadily engaging themselves, to make the canal influence the controlling interests of several counties. Thus the party could always be in a dominant, and consequently by voted for the executive officer party. Gen. Tunney, who was chief the canal office, as a part of matter of all, was, sometimes paid for tended to be a democrat, but never voted for or with them. The Principal Engineer was a whig from the commencement of the Thornton, and the last of the engineers shares the office, E. B. Talcott, who many years ago were all violent whigs.

At an early day Talcott pretended also to be a democrat, and under that guise and in collusion with other pretended democrats, has ever since been active, he conceived to clear Judge Douglas out of his election to Congress by substituting the name of A. J. Douglas, for that of S. A. Douglas on the poll books, and thereby bring him a candidate in that district for the State Legislature.

This was the first overt act of politics' management in the canal office. That act completed in the true great subjugation among the democracy of the Congressional district, but was overlooked from the more future aimed, was the last attempt by artful management to make it dependent upon a re election of the old officers, as we think, for the whigs of the State would not sustain the deal.

In the state elections of 1840, emboldened by the success of their former strategem, the canal office undertook openly to control the election by means of their use of the canal, by bringing out canal boats. Democratic enrolled in the canal and interested in the support of their canal tickets, and were given to understand that their employment depended upon the success of the whig ticket. The engineers openly expressed along the entire line of the canal, and hoped by the aid of the whigs, to make the canal property of they possessed, to succeed. But thanks to the democracy of the State.

The next step was to organize a convention of democrats, chiefly composed of Gen. Thornton and Tunney, and E. B. Talcott, as delegates, to be compelled to call the Legislature. This committee would have their own way to have nothing, unless, unfavorable to the State, our managed themselves, and secure the end. By whig aid Gen. Ewing was nominated. From the commencement the legislature to the protest time an incessant current of slang was kept running against the Governor the last legislature, not only from the whigs but from the Orange Democracy, the Quincy Free Trader, and the Carrollton Advocate. The contrariness many of these worthies carried off officers, and interested members, together they played the old game of "one cause tickle me." They had claimed high friends with these officers for the work they were to perform, and hence their consistency in the support of this. The canal office has patronage and the contractors have money. Judge Young's vote on the Bankrupt Bill.

The following communication is in relation to a vote given by Judge Young in Illinois, which was characterized for publication our Springfield correspondent. It was issued in many of the Whig papers but we were for the bill upon an honest principle, and that impression had no sway over us, and generally believed in its merits. Such is our belief at present. Such is our position, and the following will show, and we believe we are laying it before our readers.

QUINCY, Ill., August 30, '42.

DEAR SIR—Having understood that my vote on the bankrupt bill, which I gave in the House of Representatives of the United States last winter, was misunderstood by the people, now being on the commencement of my re-election, and having been considered in the one aspect of our vote, I take the liberty to address you a few lines to you on the subject, for the purpose of correcting any impression which I understand have been created in the public mind, and which is considered with the greatest force against me, by my political opponents.

The bill passed the Senate in the first session, on the 25th of July, 1841, by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Bagby, Benton, Buchanan, Clay of Ala., Clayton, Dixon, Ewing, Huntington, Kerr, Knight, Lumpkin, Miller, Nicholas, Nicholson, Phelps, Preston, Simmons, Smith of Conn., Sturgeon, Tallmadge, Tappan, Walker, Woodbridge, and Young—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Allen, Archer, Bayard, Berrien, Choate, Clarke, Clay of Ky., Crittenden, Evans, Graham, King, Linn, Mangum, Merrick, Morehead, Morris, Porter, Rives, Simmons, Tappan, Woodbury, and Wright—24.

At this stage of the proceeding I was in good health and ready to vote for the bill, upon my own judgment as to propriety, in consequence of petitions numerously signed from Chicago, Alton, Galena, and a few other places in the State, and from no other portion from the State against it. The bill was then sent down to the House of Representatives and passed that body with sundry amendments on the 3d of August, 1841, by a vote of 106 yeas to 101 nayes. It was then sent back to the Senate on the same day, when Senator Allen's bill to abolish the postponement of the bill until the 1st of February, 1842. The Senate concurred, was taken up and passed by a vote of the full. During the interval from the 25th of July to the 20th of August, I was afforded for a full examination of the different provisions of the bill, and was then satisfied that many of its features were highly objectionable, and that it could not be passed in the form then presented, unanimously and disregarding the leading obnoxious of amendments

HARRISON AND HARDING SONGS.

THE subscribers have received a drop on the small book building on the south side of the public square, which contains a large number of the campaign songs of 1840, and will sell them at wholesale rates to any dealer who may call for them immediately. Those desiring to purchase the same, by long circulars, accompanied with the money and envelopes to pay return postage, will receive the same by return of mail.

Considering the multitude of strangers that may attend the next session of the Legislature, they have ordered a stand in the most conspicuous part of the room, where they will be found with copies for sale, and where they will be pleased to see their friends of the public, and they have for a convenient place of meeting, and to receive a liberal share of patronage from a generous public.

CURRY & LEAVITT.
ISAAC ROUNTREE.

Bridgeford, Sept. 23, 1840.

NOTICE—Is hereby given, that on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1840, I shall apply to the Hon. Judge of Sangamon county, for the benefit of the Insolvent laws of this State, and the Decision and Circuit courts of the United States, and for the benefit of my creditors.

Springfield, Sept. 23, 1840.

Sheriff's Notice.

THERE will be exposed for sale, at the county seat of Mercer county, Illinois, two quarter sections of land, one of which is situated in Keithsburg, and is the property of Jacob Bruner, and the other is situated in Aledo, and is the property of Jacob Bruner and Jacob Bruner, Jr. The sale will be made to the highest bidder, for two years, and a stay of execution will be given for that time. The sale will take place, in accordance with the laws of this State, on the first Monday in November next, at the court house in Aledo.

MEDICATED LOZENGES.

THE subscriber has now on hand, for sale at wholesale and retail, a large supply of what are the best preparations for the cure of the various pulmonary diseases which have been ever offered to the public. The preparation is the result of the combined skill and experience of a Member of the Medical Profession, and a Chemist, formerly of New York, and these Lozenges are prepared under their immediate supervision. They have been approved by the same celebrated physicians in this city, and wherever they have been used, have proved to be efficacious, and are now recommended by them as a safe and sure remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs.

COUGH LOZENGES.

Which are the most speedy and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c., ever offered to the public. They operate by allaying irritation of the throat and lungs, by relaxation of coughing, and removing the cause of the disease.

CATHARTIC LOZENGES.

The only reliable Worm and Stomach remedy in use. They are a safe and sure cure for worms in children, and for costiveness, sick headache, and sometimes long and serious suffering and even death in their absence. Where worms exist, these preparations may give some uneasiness, although they are the only safe and certain remedies, without any danger to the patient.

CAMPHOR LOZENGES.

For nervous or weak mind in the golden hour of the first appearance of disease, or where the system is prostrated by nervous debility, they are the most powerful restorative ever offered to the public. The Lozenges really reviving, and imparting vigor to the whole system. Persons using them say they will restore the tone of the system generally, and prevent any nervous disease from ever attacking the system.

CATHARTIC LOZENGES.

The best Lozenges ever offered to the public for promoting speedy and preventing attacks of Bilious and Intermittent fever and other diseases of the system.

FEVER AND AGUE LOZENGES.

These Lozenges have been found a most valuable preparation in presence of strong vapors, and have never been known to fail in a single case of intermittent disease. In addition to this, they are a most powerful tonic.

Price of each kind of Lozenges, 50 cents.

SHERMAN'S PATENT LOZENGES.

The efficacy of which over 1,000,000 are now yearly consuming to prove, are for the cure of coughs, colds, influenza, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness, whooping cough, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, and are offered with confidence to the afflicted as a safe and sure remedy.

Beware of many persons in the community selling worthless imitations of these Lozenges. Those only are genuine which have the signature of the proprietor on each box.

Prepared and for sale wholesale and retail by

Springfield, August 17, 1840.

To the Citizens of Sangamon.

FELLOW CITIZENS—You have all read, and many of you have heard, the speech of Mr. Lincoln of Sangamon (Messrs' Godbille, Stuart and Lincoln Bank paper for issues. Fare the long ones were strictly honest men when known the bank and the Press, and from the fact that the whole of property has been so materially affected by their corruption, you naturally expected, on the meeting of the Legislature, to hear them acknowledging to the shifting fare. That they, coming at a time when good money is driven almost entirely from circulation, by the issues of irresponsible, will be the opposition there, relies in to those who have not read the speech, and who have not seen any of the summary, but have all united in one party of the summary, but have all united in one party of the summary, but have all united in one party
